Irrigation District Plans Increase In Rates

Tentative Measure Effective December 1 If Accepted

The Helix Irrigation District serving some 40,000 water customers is looking to an increase in water rates on a tentative measure effective December 1. Even though the average water users will drop some 84 cents next year, the cost of water will be increased.

The new rate schedule presented by the district's chairman of the board, Harry Griffin, said that the new rate schedule is needed to fill the gap that will be made when the district adopts a new method of selling water used for agricultural purposes.

The directors will consider the proposed increases probably at the Aug. 14 meeting of the group.

Griffin said that the increase also results from a change in the method of determining the dollar amount of credit that the District receives for water used for agricultural purposes.

In the past, the credit amounted to some $100,000 to the District annually. The change in the credit could eliminate the entire amount of kickback to the District from the San Diego County Water Authority.

The director said that agriculture has been practically phased out in the District. He estimated that out of some 40,000 meters of water earmarked for use in the Helix system only around 2,000 meters have some true and qualifying agricultural use.

For some years, the district has received this water for agricultural use at a special reduced rate.

It is now necessary to bring the actual usage figure up to a real one.

Griffin said that a study just completed by his staff on July 31 indicates that a 4c increase per hundred cubic feet of water in the last two steps of the District's present water rate will be required to make up the deficit by the change in agricultural water.

He said, "By placing the increase on the last two steps of billing the agricultural water revenue loss will be met by large volume users. These are the class of users that have benefited in the past from the agricultural credit."

He continued, "Everyone is aware of and has generally accepted that creeping inflation requires more dollars each year to do the same amount of work."

"The cost of water alone presents the problems most clearly. In 1958 raw water purchased from the San Diego County Water Authority cost the District $17 an acre foot."

"Today, an acre foot of water costs the District $38.25 and rates already firmly established set the cost in 1970 at $45.25 and projections indicate prices in 1975 to be from $60-$65 per acre foot."

At the same time Griffin said, "The Board of Directors are keenly aware of the taxpayers acute problem and intensive studies made by the District staff indicate that a gradual shift of income from taxes to income from water sales to cover all District costs is not only feasible but it is reasonable."

Griffin said that the district could reduce income from taxes by 20% per year and increase the income from water sales by the same dollar amounts.

This type of action would result in no taxes being levied by the Helix District against real property after the fifth year of the proposed program.

The shift of income from taxes over a five year period to water sales income would see water rates increases as follows:

December 1, 1968, 4 cents per 100 cubic feet in last 2 steps of rates.

July 1, 1969, 1 cent per 100 cubic feet.

July 1, 1970, 2 cents per 100 cubic feet.

July 1, 1971, 2 cents per 100 cubic feet.

July 1, 1972, 2 cents per 100 cubic feet.

These tentative rates are based on the additional assumptions that the District will receive 1,100 acre feet of local water each year through the impounding facilities. Also that there will be a minimum of 12,000 acre feet of water maintained in storage for emergency use during the five year period, that water use will increase 800 acre feet per year, and that rainfall within the District will be average.

With these rates in effect, the average water account for a two month billing period (based on annual water use by all accounts) would be as follows:

Average billing for
fiscal year 1969	$12.28
Average billing for
fiscal year 1970	13.08
Average billing for
fiscal year 1971	14.18
Average billing for
fiscal year 1972	15.30

This briefly covers the financial studies and pending decisions confronting the Helix District Board of Directors.

La Presa School Building Construction Is Delayed

The La Mesa-Spring Valley School District Board of Education has turned down a bid for construction of the La Presa Junior High School because it is in the excess of state allocation of funds for the project.

The move came at the District's Board meeting last Thursday night. The Clancy Construction Co. was the only bidder for the project.

The bid was for $1,081,104. The state's allowable construction figure is around $850,000 a district official stated.

The move was made according to the State School Building Aid Law. The architect for the project said that poor showing of bidders is due to the fact that so much construction is going on in this area that contractors are at a saturation point in other work.

The district is going to have new bids made on the project after design changes have been made by the architect. It must be out for bid again by early fall in order to allow for completion of the school for occupancy in Sept. of 1969.

The bids will go out on August 29, Sept. 5 and Sept. 12. They will be opened on Sept. 19 at 2 p.m. and will be presented to the Board of Education.

for consideration on Sept. 23.

Excavation of the site is underway at a cost of $100,000 under a separate contract.

In other action the Board adopted the final budget for the 1968-69 school year of more than $10.7 million, which is $1.1 million more than last year.

The final figure represents a 35cent tax increase. The increase is 5 cents less than the amount estimated in the published budget. The final tax rate has been estimated at $2.85.

The Board denied a claim against the District on behalf of Arthur J. Danks who was struck by a ball in his face during a noon lunch recess at Murray Manor Elementary School.

The student suffered injury to his eye, nose and cheekbone. The claim states that the School failed to exercise ordinary care and failed to provide sufficient supervision on the playground.

The matter was referred to the District insurance carrier. The claim is in the amount of $85,598.

The Board in other action changed the date of the regular meeting in September (the 3rd), to Tuesday, the 10th, at 7:30 p.m.

Approved standard personnel recommendations, including summer school. Appointed Dr. Kenneth Tye to the position of Director of Program Planning and Development.

District staff members involved in the program are Mrs. Mary Carlson, Mrs. Fern Lewis and Robert Davis. Mrs. Carolyn Kenny narrated the videotape.

Postponed viewing a film which described specific programs of the San Diego Instructional Television Authority.

Supervisors Air Fire Communications Link

Fire Chief Frank Burger of the Spring Valley Fire Department was present at a three hour session with the County Board of Supervisors last week to discuss a proposed communications program and mutual air system.

Burger said that some progress was being made in the program that is being requested by the fire chiefs throughout the county. They want the County to act as the coordinating body in the system.

The Board of Supervisors is going to send to various City heads and other elected officials requests indicating their support of the program.

The supervisors will ask if the elected officials are interested in a mass purchasing power agreement for radio equipment, and a mass equipment repair program.

Spring Valley has already gone on the record with the supervisors as endorsing the program.

The communications program which will include all cities, fire districts, and volunteers, and volunteer fire departments will put firefighters on a common radio frequency in case of emergencies where many different fire departments respond to a disaster area.

It should be noted that most of the fire departments have similar equipment. In a number of cases, new equipment will be necessary to enable fire companies to tie in on an extra frequency.

Supervisor Robert C. Dent of the third district said, "We are anxious to get the cooperation of the various elected officials to help us in this program."

Food Management Program Expands At Grossmont College

Grossmont College has scheduled evening courses during the fall semester, in the Food Service Management field, aimed at satisfying the educational requirements of men and women presently employed in the food industry as well as students who plan to enter the field for the first time.

The courses are designed to meet the needs of the expanding food service and general hospitality industry and are part of a series of courses that will prepare students for supervisory positions in food service and allied fields.

The courses will include "Basic Quantity Food Preparation" and "Sanitation and Safety Control" covering such topics as personal cleanliness, sanitary practices and controls, safety precautions, and accident prevention in the kitchen; as well as "Food Purchasing" which will stress seasonal purchasing of food, convenience, price, kind, and principles of storage and use.

According to Food Service Management Instructor William R. Cheeseman, Grossmont College is a member of under supervision. The program is in its third year at the college. It is serving the food service industry and allied fields of vocational food study.

The National Restaurant Association and U. S. Department of Labor has estimated that 250,000 new food service employees will be needed annually for the next ten years.

This includes all categories, but it was noted that the most critical area in the field is the shortage for qualified cooks-managers, with 40,000 to 50,000 new ones needed annually.

Gerald Smith Joins City In Motion Marine Corps Platoon

The City in Motion Platoon, which is 80 young men recruited as a unit from the San Diego area, arrived at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Receiving Barracks, in San Diego July 17 to begin a rigorous eight-week indoctrination to Marine Corps life.

Pvt. Gerald L. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Smith, 7975 Canton dr., Lemon Grove is a member of the City in Motion Platoon.

Another member of the platoon from the general area is Glen R. Burleigh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Burleigh, 5830 Astway, La Mesa.

The Motion Platoon was bused from the Marine Corps Recruiting Station in San Diego to the Depot's Receiving Barracks where they reported for initial processing.

Fifty-five minutes after setting foot in Receiving Barracks, each recruit had been shorn of the symbols of his civilian past.

The rapid fire process began with a brief lecture on the Uniform Code of Military Justice, followed by traditional recruit haircut and initial issue of health and comfort items, including shaving and sewing gear, stationary and stamps.

In the next phase of the 55-minute transformation from civilian to recruit, they received enough uniform clothing to begin training.

They showered and changed into their new clothing, dressing "by the numbers", as a Noncommissioned Officer supervised. Civilian clothing and all personal belongings were packed, sealed and mailed home by the recruits.

Less than an hour after their arrival here, members of the City in Motion Platoon, now members of recruit platoon 1048, First Recruit Training Battalion, stood at attention in platoon formation to meet their Drill Instructors.

This team of three seasoned Noncommissioned Officers will be in constant attendance on the Platoon throughout its eight-week training cycle.

Recruits will devote long hours during this period to learning the fundamentals of Marine Corps history, military customs and courtesy, physical conditioning, drill, water survival, unarmed combat, rifle marksmanship and the myriad other skills essential to the profession of arms.

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

Who said "El respeto al derecho ajeno es la paz." and what does it mean in English? This is a phrase that has resounded throughout the Spanish-speaking world.

It was first said by the first president of Mexico, Benito Juarez. It means "The respect for the right of another is the peace."

President Benito Juarez lived during the formative years of the Mexican government. His life was filled with many challenges and obstacles.

He was born of pure Sapotecan Indian parents in 1806. Young Benito was hardly four years old when both of his parents died. He and his two sisters were left to the care of the paternal grandparents.

He tended sheep for his uncle until he was twelve. He later ran away to the capital city of Oaxaca where he worked as a book binder.

In the big city the little Indian found himself the object of many a joke. With encouragement from his new guardians he managed to overcome the harshness of city life and the mistreatment. He occupied himself with studies of Spanish grammar, liberal arts and law.

The "indio chico" (Little Indian) of humble background was not to be discouraged. He studied hard, worked hard, and became the "jefe" (chief) of a proud nation. It may well be that we could learn a few Spanish words from him, also a special message — "El respeto al derecho ajeno es la paz."

Today's practice phrases contain some of the words from this famous saying. See if you can determine how to pronounce them with the phonetic guide provided. Then practice saying them with the recorded voice on 276-2762.

Mrs. Amanda Angle Of Spring Valley Celebrates 102nd Birthday

Mrs. Amanda C. Angle quietly celebrated her 102nd birthday August 2 at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. William H. Villinger, 10109 Ramona dr., Spring Valley.

Her permanent residence is 9685 Lamar st., Spring Valley.

James D. Seale, Field Representative of the El Cajon Social Security District Office, presented Mrs. Angle with a personal birthday greeting card from Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of the Social Security Administration.

Mrs. Angle was born in Putnam Co., Indiana, August 2, 1866. She grew up in West Virginia and married Dave Angle in 1885 at St. Albans, West Virginia.

In 1890 she, her husband, and one child came west and lived in Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona before arriving in San Diego in 1925.

She has been a resident of San Diego County since then.

She said that the place where she lives now in Spring Valley was just desert land then.

She received Social Security benefits as the wife of Dave Angle from December 1950 until he passed away in 1961 and has received widow's benefits since. She said, "Social Security has been a life saver."

Mrs. Angle also elected full coverage under Medicare effective July 1, 1966, but has had no occasion as yet to make use of it. She is in excellent health and said she had never been hospitalized.

She leads an active and vigorous life. Her physical appearance greatly belies her age, and she moves about with a spritely pace that amazes her much younger relatives.

She said she didn't realize that she was growing old until she was 99, then she "woke up." She attributes her long life to "clean living and hard work."

She still enjoys crocheting, knitting and quilt-making, but says she doesn't read as much as she used to. She does the dishes and makes her own bed daily.

Mrs. Angle raised 10 children, 5 of them still living. They are Bruce and Harry Angle of San Diego, Fred Angle of Spring Valley, Mrs. Ellis Pine of Vista and Mrs. Paul Lunsford of Glendale.

She has 10 grandchildren, 20 great-grandchildren and 9 great-great-grandchildren. However, only one great-grandson, David Angles, is left to carry on the Angle family name.

Frank Burger Gets Kiwanis Club Backing

The Spring Valley Kiwanis Club, at its July 31 meeting, voted to back financially, Lt. Governor-elect Frank Burger, if he is elected Lt. Governor of Division 31 of Kiwanis Clubs.

If elected, Burger, a past president of the Spring Valley club, will take office the first of 1969. Burger was defeated by one vote last year to become Lt. Governor of Division 31, losing to Paul Claf of Alpine.

Burger said at the July 31 meeting that the Calif.-Nev. Haw. Division will hold its annual convention in San Diego in 1969, possibly in the fall.

The annual picnic for Division 31, is scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 11 at Pine Valley, beginning at about 9 a.m. All Kiwanis Club members and families are invited.

The El Cajon club will have charge of entertainment. During the day a new Lt. Governor and Lt. Governor-elect will be elected.

Hoyt Brown, treasurer of the S.V. Kiwanis Club, reported July 31 that a check for $61.78 was turned in from the sale of gumballs in the area.

The sale of gumballs, via gumball machines placed at various locations, is another way Kiwanis helps the youth of the area. Brown said there still is need for more machine locations.

Drs. Adams-Treganza Add Third Partner

The field of optometry is growing in Lemon Grove — which is good news for eyeglass wearers.

Drs. Lloyd Adams and Amorita Treganza (she's Mrs. Lloyd Adams in private life) are taking on a partner. The partner is 21-year old Dr. Jerome Alan Legerton, a June graduate of the Los Angeles College of Optometry. He was graduated magna cum laude.

Drs. Adams and Treganza have practiced optometry for 24 years; 8 of which were in Lemon Grove. Recently they moved from Imperial ave. to a building they purchased at 7898 Broadway.

"Our practice has grown so steadily that Dr. Adams and I cannot handle it properly. We needed another doctor and Dr. Legerton has all of the qualities we are seeking," Dr. Treganza said.

Dr. Legerton

Dr. Legerton is a native of Northridge, Calif. where he was graduated from high school at the age of 16. "They jumped me a couple of classes," he said. He also has been active in Scouting and is an Eagle Scout himself.

He met and married his wife Linda at the Northridge Congregational church where both were attending and the couple has one child and another one due "maybe this month."

He met Dr. Treganza at a San Diego convention where she was giving a course in school screening and screening school age children for vision perception problems.

He was seeking to set up his practice and he became enthralled with Dr. Treganza's discussion about Lemon Grove.

The Legerton family is moving to Lemon Grove from Northridge as "soon as we can find a two bedroom house."

MEXICO CITY, (Special) — Michael Gonzales, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Conner Owen, 7358 Central ave., Lemon Grove, is enrolled this summer at the University of the Americas located in Mexico City. Because students at UA are not only from the United States but from more than 40 other countries, the school plays a distinctive role in intercultural and international education.

Accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the University has a larger enrollment of American students than any other liberal arts school abroad.

Classes are taught in English by an internationally trained faculty but practically all students learn Spanish not only in the classroom but through their association with the people of Mexico. Most of them live in college-approved private Mexican homes and as a result become familiar with the customs and daily lives of their hosts.

Gonzales was graduated from Grossmont Junior College and has attend San Diego State.

Aztecs To Open Football Practice August 24 At State College Bowl

San Diego State, two-time National College Division Football Champions will begin practice August 26.

Head Mentor Don Coryell made the announcement Monday.

The Aztecs face their most ambitious schedule ever in seeking their unprecedented 3rd national title. Workouts will be held twice daily, 8:30 to 10:30 and 3 to 5, until the day before the first game on September 14.

Coach Coryell and his staff expect to greet 50-55 candidates on opening day. Workouts will be held in Aztec Bowl and are open to the public. Picture day will be Wednesday, August 28, from 1 to 3.

Although the opening of practice is still four weeks away, Coaches Coryell, Hall, Gilbert and Zampese are finalizing their plans for the 1968 season.

Coach Coryell stated: "We are looking forward to the opening of the season and we expect to have a good team. Whether or not we can improve or emulate our record of 1966 and '67 remains to be seen.

Off the sensational spring showing of newcomer quarterback Dennis Shaw, 6-1, 190, we will probably throw the ball a lot. However, the key to the Aztecs' offense is whether or not "Big Lloyd Edwards, 6-4, 245 fullback is ready to play. Lloyd has had two operations on his Achilles tendon this past spring and at the present time, the "Big" man is a question mark.

Also of immediate concern is finding a replacement for the graduated Haven Moses who was everybody's All-American last year and the first round-draft choice of the Buffalo Bills.

Mac Dillingham had a good spring game and we are counting on him. We hope that Harry Benjamin, who broke O. J. Simpson's JC records last year, will be able to make the move from Junior College to our varsity.

In the event "Big" Lloyd is not able to play, we will probably go with the two scabbards Dillingham, 5-9, 180, and Benjamin, 5-8, 165.

Claude Gilbert, Offensive Line Coach, has a rebuilding job. "We have only two returning starters from last year's offensive line, Paul Daniels, 6-1, 220, and Clark Wright, 6-0, 220. Potentially, our line could be as good as last year's if our newcomers develop."

Heading the last of first-year men are center, Bill Pier-son, 6-4, 240; center, A. J. Vasquez, 6-1, 225; guard Ray Ogas, 5-10, 212; guard Larry Findley, 6-1, 220, a 1965 starter who has just returned to school from military service; tackle, Tom Freeman, 6-2, 240, a returning letterman; tackle, Barry Anderson, 6-2, 225; tight-end Mike Oslin, 220, a returning letterman; tight-end Del Pifer, 6-2, 215; guard, Bob Merrill, 5-11, 215; and tackle Tom Shellabarger, 6-5, 245.

Defensive Coordinator, Sid Hall is wearing a slight smile these days. Nine returning let-termen and several promising newcomers will greet Sid on opening of practice.

"We will be bigger physical-ly, just as quick, and have greater depth this year. Potentially, we could be as good a defensive unit this year as we were last year."

Up front, Coach Hall has re-turning All-American candi-date, end Fred Dreyer 6-5½, 225; tackle, Mike Pompa, 6-2, 215; tackle, Mike Carsey, 6-2, 223; and end Dick Weber, 6-0, 205.

Backing up the veterans are four outstanding newcomers, guard Tim Burnett, 5-11, 215; tackle Bill Van Leeuwen, 6-1, 205; guard Carl Weathers, 6-1, 215; and tackle Lon Woodard, 6-5, 245.

Three veteran hard-nosed linebackers return. Jeff Lan-caster, 6-10, 220, Doug Fisher, 6-1, 225, and the QB of the de-fense, Mike Meagher, 5-11, 185.

Heading the secondary is sen-sational Nate Wright, 5-11, 190. Nate is, in the words of his coaches, an "offensive-de-fensive" back. Last year Nate had four interceptions for an average lead of 28 yards a steal; he returned 16 punts for 264 yards, average per re-turn 16.5, and he returned 3 kick-offs for 68 yards, for a 22.7 average.

Other veteran backs return-ing are Marty Steigner, 5-11, 180, and Clarence Oliver, 6-1, 195. Newcomers to bulwark the secondary are Bill Hayes, 6-1, 170, Steve Brinkley, 6', 190, and John Costello, 6', 180, who was a pleasant surprise to the coaches in the spring game.

Monte Vista Water Polo Team Sinks La Mesa In 9-2 Win

by Scott McLaugh

Monte Vista's entry in water polo action "righted the ship" last week as they sank La Mesa 9-2 to give the local varsity team its first win in summer action.

The locals, otherwise known as Carman Ranch, pulled out all stops in the victory with outstanding efforts coming from many individuals on the Ranch team.

Rob Morell and Rick Ingram paced the Monarchs offensively with Bob Friend dropping the anchor on La Mesa to secure the victory.

The Carman Ranch Junior Varsity squad scored a hard hitting rout as they dunked the La Mesa JV club 12-0. The JV's now holds a 2-0 record for water polo action this summer.

Brad Julihn speared the Monarchs offensive attack, Julihn in two games, back-to-back, has left his mark. John Krattli registered his first shut out for the team in the victory.

In other action, the squad traveled to the University of Irvine in Los Angeles for a practice session of action with Irvine's water polo team last Tuesday.

As summer action draws to a near close, the local entry has bright prospects with any of Carman Ranch's stand-outs returning.

Morell is expected to return to pace the offensive attack for the club. He made honorable mention last year in the CIF selections as a sophomore in his first year of water polo.

Krattli and Julihn are counted in the future hopes to carry the load. Krattli has been pegged as Monte Vista's goalie for next year.

Girls Practice Starts
One of the first sports to get underway this fall at the Monte Vista High School will be the girls' swimming with practice.

According to coaches Mike Lambe, Sue Sharpe and Fred Wadsworth, the Monarchs will be represented with a team comprised mostly of juniors to carry on the banner.

Illegal Dumping Static Says Public Works

In a recent report to the Board of Supervisors, the Department of Public Works indicated that after one year's operation under the County's new refuse disposal revenue program it had noticed no increase in illegal dumping.

Supplementing the report from the Department of Public Works were reports from the Sheriff and County Engineer, both indicating no such increase had been observed.

Nevertheless, numerous agencies and communities have reported increases in illegal dumping to the Board of Supervisors.

Accordingly, the Board has directed the Department of Public Works to publicize the steps a citizen should take in reporting any illegal dumping he might notice or observe.

Such reports should be made by calling the Department of Public Works, 278-9200, extension 531.

The Refuse Disposal Division of that Department has skilled investigators who specialize in tracing down illegal dumpers, making them either clean up their debris or attempting to prosecute.

In cases where illegal dumping has been going on for an extended period of time, the Division, with the consent of the property owners, will clean up accumulated debris and post the area with "No Dumping" signs.

'Watch Dog', Clean-Up Are CoC Projects

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce this week approved a plan to form a committee to represent the "best interests of Lemon Grove" with the various levels of government. It will be a "watch dog"

Acting President Gary Conrad said the committee would be started at once and meeting dates would be announced later.

He said that Paul Reynolds, retired planning commissioner, Al Woods, former Chamber president and former president of the Old Time Days Association, had been tentatively appointed.

Cliff Clark, president of the L.G. Men's Club, Frank Shugrue, vacationing president of the Chamber, and Dr. George Brassington will also be on the committee.

In other business the Chamber will set its Clean Up date at a meeting of the Clean Up committee later this week.

Mail Bag

Dear Editor,

Being a resident of San Diego County, I am accustomed to the editorial garbage supplied in large quantities by the Conley newspapers. However, your column "The Dimmer View" of August 1, was so odious that the Copley Press looked like The Christian Science Monitor in comparison. Your ability to combine an incomprehensible misunderstanding of the meaning of law with a condescending attitude toward other areas of the County was quite remarkable.

One sees a glorious picture of Max Goodwin's State: police beating up those who do not bow and kiss their feet and the great white majority congratulating itself on its superiority to those of less noble birth. Frankly, your editorial scared the hell out of me, and I have never taken marijuana, been in any trouble with the police, or lived in Logan Heights.

If you were ever denied the slightest right or privilege of the press, I am sure that you would scream to high heaven, and see that the matter was "taken care of." Yet, you seem to have an almost bloodthirsty lust to see others punished. Anyone who can write "We got smacked across the rump a couple of times for just looking as if we were going to be smart alec" (in reference to the police) and "Laws for young punks are futile," reveals undemocratic attitudes of an extremely dangerous nature.

You put it well yourself, "Our viewpoint is no more tilted than that of a teenage peddler." Hardly a recommendation for you or the LEMON GROVE REVIEW.

I thank God (yes, you don't have a monopoly on piety) that people are finally beginning to wake up to the shallowness of pomposity and authority for authority's sake. I was a victim of a beating in Logan Heights several years ago, but that hasn't made me hostile to the genuine problems of the minority community. Having tutored at an elementary school in Logan Heights, I have some acquaintance with the strong-arm discipline and inadequate teaching present there. Your attitude of superiority turns my stomach.

Keep writing, though. A little comic relief is healthy once in a while.

Mr. Fortas' attributes.

No man can serve at this high post without having considerable ability and Mr. Fortas would never be classed as a dune-dun.

It is natural that the kindly light of favoritism be shined on Mr. Fortas by those who would have him head the Court. There are other voices that would be heard regarding Mr. Fortas so that he may take his place properly in this community of men without being regarded as God.

It is therefore fitting that another side of Mr. Fortas be dimmed here. The dissident voice is supplied through the offices of Liberty Lobby, in Washington.

Here is its tabulation of the Fortas record:

A — Aided Communist spies Alger Hiss and Harry Dexter White in drafting the Charter of the UN at San Francisco in 1945.

B — Organized Warren Commission to investigate Kennedy Assassination. Followed indifferently plan proposed week before by Communist DAILY WORKER including Warren as Chairman.

C — Urged Supreme Court Justice Black to overrule Fed. Court decision against LBJ in the 1948 "stolen" Texas Primary. Fed. Judge T. Whitfield Davidson described this order as "... too hasty, and perhaps unlawful." The order halted all investigation of LBJ's 87 winning "votes" and elected him to the Senate.

D — Designed the "Durham Rule" on criminal insanity that has prevented conviction of killers and rapists, who, under the old rule of "knowing right from wrong" would otherwise have been convicted.

E — Designed the "Gideon Rule" requiring taxpayers to foot the bill for lawyers for all defendants in state courts, justified or not.

F — Pressured three Washington newspapers to prevent publication of story of Pres. Aide Walter Jenkin's SECOND arrest for sex perversion.

G — In 1933 and 1944 Fortas served in the Legal Division of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The Legal Division included Fortas, Jerome Frank, Thurman Arnold, Adlai Stevenson, Alger Hiss, Lee Pressmen, John Abt, and Nathan Witt. More than half of these have since been identified as Communist spies.

H — He was defense attorney for Bobby Baker until the Kennedy assassination, when he suddenly withdrew his services.

I — Fortas is married to tax-attorney Carolyn Agger, whose clients include some of America's biggest corporations. Her partner is Commissioner of Internal Revenue Sheldon Cohen who is on leave of absence from the firm. Presumably, Cohen will some day benefit from the fees paid to firm.

J — Fortas defended Owen Lattimore (perjurer, Communist spy).

K — Arranged the LBJ trust fund in such a manner as to allow the President to continue controlling the Johnson fortune even though it is "in trust."

L — Officer and National Committeeman of the International Juridical Assn. (listed as Communist Party front group) together with Thurgood Marshall, Roy Wilkins, Lee Pressman, Nathan Witt, and others.

M — Member of the Washington Committee for Democratic Action (subversive organization — Attorney General's list) in the 1940's.

N — Helped write the "Gesell Report" for the Defense Department, aimed at forcing off-base racial integration in housing, social life, etc., of U.S. servicemen.

O — Was highly praised by the Communist Party WORKER, Nov. 3, 1950 for denouncing the firing of certain State Department employees for disloyalty as "unfair and un-American." Fortas said the firings were the act of a "police state."

P — Brought pressure to "fix" the Washington press to prevent publication of the story of Bobby Baker's "gift" of the famous stereo to LBJ.

Q — In appealing the firing of one Milton Friedman from a top-level post in the War Manpower Commission for disseminating Communist Party propaganda, Fortas pleaded before the Supreme Court to grant Communist Party propagandaists "free commerce in opinion and political expression." (1944) and he was also kicked and robbed of $40. His brother remained in the car and was not injured.

Police said that Hofstee's assailant was pulled off of the victim by others in the group who then drove off in a car. License plate identification was not made.

The victim was on his way home from National Steel where he worked on the night shift.

Hofstee, a native of Amsterdam, Holland leaves a wife Elizabeth and five children. They are Ronald, 12; Elizabeth, 11; Fred, 10; Garrit, 8 and Mike who is 2.

He is also survived by a mother, Maria, who is visiting the family from Holland; and a brother John who resides at 732 Felicita, Spring Valley.

Burial services were held yesterday afternoon. The Greenwood Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Budget

the bond interest and redemption program.

The new tax rate constitutes an increase over last year of approximately 10c. The higher cost is the result of increased retirement, health and welfare benefits for district workers.

The Governing Board accepted the recommendation of the Citizens Advisory Committee to ask the voters on Nov. 5, 1968 for a new tax rate ceiling of $2.98 for the next five-year period.

Superintendent Dr. Austin Sellery reminded the Board that this is a permissive ceiling and that each year the Board will establish a new rate necessary to fund the budget for that year.

Dr. Sellery said that the average increase would be slightly less than 30c per year and, if federal and state funds support of education continue to increase, this rate could be even smaller.

wrapper that was found by the youth's side, so it is not known what caused the lung congestion.

Deputy Coroner Max Murphy was quoted as saying that the youth had a history of sniffing glue and had been missing overnight when found by his mother.

Found next to Moore was a pressurized metal can containing a lubricant solution, mostly silicone, with freon gas as the propellant.

Scholl, son of Iris June Scholl, 8110 Stadler st., La Mesa was dead on arrival at Helix Hospital Sunday at 1:25 p.m.

He had complained of pains in the back of his head while playing with two friends at a residence at 8155 Stadler st., La Mesa.

Scholl and his two friends went into a bedroom to listen to records. Deputy Coroner Richard Ewens was quoted as saying that Scholl laid down on his stomach and appeared to be asleep.

The two youths rolled him over, but couldn't awaken him. They called the La Mesa police and Fire Departments.

His mother told investigators that her son had sniffed instant dry shampoo sprayed in a plastic bag last week.

A soft-drink bottle containing a cloudy dark fluid and a small plastic bag holding a white substance were taken from the residence, police said.

School Budget Approved

$3.24 Tax Rate

There is much to be said for school financing but the most apt phrase is that it is non-understandable.

The Lemon Grove Elementary School budget for $2,831,482 was approved Monday night at the regular board meeting. It was adjusted here and there to accommodate some late requirements.

The budget was also approved at a July hearing and published districts do it. In any event, it about the process — all school listed, as required by law.

There was nothing irregular became the biggest budget in the district's history and it will require a tax of $3.24 on each $100 of property valuation to meet the budget. That's 24c higher than last year. The rate is the same as the rate approved in July.

Some of the late changes in the budget stemmed from a sabbatical leave granted Mrs. Genevieve Oliphant at the cost of $2,800 and the hiring of an additional math teacher to meet the proposal of an expanded Miller Math Improvement Program. In the latter case, 71% of the cost will be reimbursed by the state.

Good Old Summer Time Returns In Grove-Valley With Mosquitos

The good old summertime may soon be mosquito time for Lemon Grove and Spring Valley. This was the word yesterday from the San Diego Department of Public Health.

Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, said Mosquito Control Week has been added to the calendar by the State Department of Public Health for good reason. The dates are July 14-20.

"When it's hot, mosquitoes can reproduce at a fantastic rate in standing water," Dr. Askew said. "If they found a teaspoonful of water, there would soon be mosquito larvae in it."

Dr. Askew said the Mosquito Control Service of the San Diego Department of Public Health has found a great deal of mosquito breeding in the past two weeks in swimming pools.

"The problem is extensive," he said. "It exists for the most part on vacant property. Our men have reported finding pools alive with mosquito wigglers in metropolitan San Diego, in the South Bay and Cajon Valley area, in all of the coastal communities, and inland through Rancho Santa Fe, Rancho Bernardo, Poway, the Vista-San Marcos area and north as far as Fallbrook."

"Our Mosquito Control Service has corrected the situation in those pools that have come to our attention, but the public can help by notifying our Division of Sanitation of any standing water where mosquito breeding occurs."

"Wherever there is a mosquito problem, we want to know about it. People with mosquito complaints should call 239-7711, Ext. 611, or call the nearest Health Center."

Dr. Askew said swimming pool owners who plan to be away on vacation can prevent mosquito breeding in their pools by keeping the chlorinator and filter going. In pools that mers or filters, mosquito are not equipped with skimming-breeding can be controlled by draining the pool dry every five days.

If pool owners plan to be away for extended periods of time and if their pools are of a design that makes draining them inadvisable, Dr. Askew advised stocking them with the small mosquito-eating fish called Gambusia.

The fish are available free of charge from the San Diego Department of Public Health Mosquito Control Service, located at the County Operations Center, 5555 Overland ave., San Diego.

"These fish are so small that it is easy to clear a swimming pool of them when the pool is to be used again for swimming," Dr. Askew said.

He also advised persons with ornamental pools or any body of standing water on their property to stock the pools or ponds with the mosquito-eating fish.

The Mosquito Control Service conducts a year-round mosquito surveillance and control program of mosquito breeding source reduction and larviciding in all problem areas. The Buena Vista, San Elijo, San Dieguito, Sorrento and Bataquitos Lagoons are regularly treated for mosquitoes.

Light traps are maintained in National City, San Ysidro, Coronado, El Cajon, Escondido, Oceanside, Carlsbad, Del Mar and the City of San Diego to determine what type of mosquitoes may appear in any area.

If there is any buildup in mosquito population, the mosquitos are traced to their breeding source. The breeding

Sports Sidelines

An Interesting Case . . . Deadline Extended

A very interesting case was presented last night when a couple of sports editors were talking things over. It was clear and simple. It went like this . . .

A football team had to travel a great distance to take part in a night high school championship game. Arrangements had been made with the coach of the team to have him call the score into the local newspaper that night after the game.

Most people understand newspaper deadlines. The local newspaper held its late night edition up for the call to come from the coach. The telephone just didn't come through with the score.

After the football team returned to its home town, the sports editor asked the coach why he had not called the paper. It was simple . . . "We got beat . . . and didn't think that you would want it."

Tournament play in baseball and softball is basically the same. This newspaper experienced the same thing just this recently. Ball clubs from Lemon Grove and Spring Valley were doing great in championship action.

Deadlines were extended for the telephone calls. Again, a newspaper was waiting for that call that never came.

It is coincidental that the teams lost. Who wants to read about a loser. Well, enough interest was created so that people in the community looked for the results from this paper and couldn't get them.

So it goes with newspapers and sports. You can't win them all. We feel the same way too.

Pop Warner Football Season Is With Us

Pop Warner football is ready to begin.

Youngsters between the ages of 9-15 are ready to open practice sessions. The regular season play will open after the youths have returned to school.

This newspaper has received numerous calls requesting information on times and places for signing up to play ball. To date, no official word has been received.

The football teams are made up of age groups and with the player's weight also taken into consideration. Usually most leagues play five divisions while a league can go as high as seven divisions.

ID Cards For Non-Drivers Gets Legislative Approval

Many aged and physically handicapped persons are expressing their gratitude to Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes (R-San Diego) for his devoting of the work that will make available to more than 2 million non-driving Californians identification cards.

The cards will be used as universally as California driver's license cards for identification purposes. The card will provide positive proof of identification for check cashing and other lawful activities.

The six year fight came to a conclusion last week when Governor Ronald Reagan signed Assembly Bill 26. The Governor said, "This legislation recognized a very important fact of life.

"The California driver's license has become the document which anyone who wishes to cash a check finds is almost always requested to produce for identification.

Applicants for the identification cards will pay a $3 fee at their neighborhood Department of Motor Vehicles Office. A photograph will be taken and an oath administered that the proof of identification is correct.

How To Have A New Redwood House Without Moving

Re-siding your house with redwood is like acquiring a whole new house minus the headaches of building or buying. You increase the beauty and market value of the existing house without going through the ordeal of moving, disrupting neighborhood ties and friendships or undermining your financial health. The last point is one which is of course very important to families wondering whether or not to remodel. The money squeeze which began in 1966 has not seemed to affect home improvement loans with their lower rates and shorter terms. Plainly, staying at the old address and remodeling is a most attractive option.

The houses pictured are good examples of redwood re-siding jobs. Both owners felt their residences were not only vastly improved in appearance, but upgraded in liveability and in saleability.

Hard Stucco

In one case, an architect bought an undesirable house on a desirable site. Because the vintage stucco house was too well-made to justify demolition, he got out his drawing board and went to work adding new redwood board and batten siding and a high redwood fence. A new fenestration plan including several additional windows improved the interior/exterior relationships of the house. All the redwood was finished with a coat of water repellent to retain the natural buckskin tan color. When the job was completed, the architect-owner had a "new" house which complemented, even exploited, his picturesque site lavishly grown over with groves of towering trees. Of the house the owner says, "Our home has without question increased in value more than enough to justify remodeling costs" and equally important, "enhanced our enjoyment tremendously."

The second house is owned by a former building contractor who decided to renew his antiquated "always having to be painted" board and batten house by covering it with a layer of 1 x 8 natural redwood bevel siding. To further update and improve the basic style of the house, the hopelessly out-of-date gingerbread trim was removed from the fascia leaving a clean line of contemporary design. Working with two helpers, the contractor completed the siding of the whole house except for the front of the garage in two days. On the third day, they covered the garage door with 3/8" saw-textured redwood plywood and gave the

AFTER: The same house? New board and batten redwood siding and generous window plan change it from ugly duckling to award-winner.

Air Conditioning for Liveability

Flameless electric heat is the easiest add-on heat there is, and the most comfortable too! To heat any new room, you can install baseboard radiators, recessed wall panel units or invisible resistance heating cable embedded in the ceiling.

Most homeowners who install flameless electric heat in a new room or addition to their house usually end up converting their entire house to flameless electric heat because its advantages become so obvious. In a direct comparison of flameless electric heat and a fuel-burning system in the same house, the homeowner can see, hear and feel the difference for himself — he doesn't have to rely on sales pitches.

According to the Edison Electric Institute, here's how flameless electric heat stacks up against fuel-burning systems:

CLEANLINESS — Flameless electric heat is the cleanest heat available today. There's no soot or grimy deposits created by the burning of fuel because no fuel is burned. Drapes and furniture stay cleaner. The air is fresher and uncontaminated.

COMFORT — Flameless electric heat creates no blasts of hot air, no cold drafts, no dried out or oxygen-starved air. The heat is uniform, not erratic.

SPACE — Flameless electric heat requires practically no space. For hot water systems, the flameless electric furnace consists of a small, wall-mounted box. Ceiling resistance cable installations or recessed wall panel units take up no space at all. Baseboard radiators are thin and inconspicuous. In all instances, the source of heating power is electricity and it comes to the heating unit through wires that are completely hidden within the walls or ceiling.

CONTROL — Flameless electric heat permits precise temperature control.

entire house a coat of water repellent. Project complete. The house looks like new, has better insulation and will never have to be painted.

Redwood 'Status'

With redwood siding you can achieve the quality and distinction of the architect-designed redwood houses seen in national "home" magazines. In terms of preference, redwood has earned the same status in home improvement as it has maintained in home building for many, many years. No other building material, natural or man-made has been able to replace it. It's durability, high dimensional stability and resistance to weather, fire, decay and insect pests are truly amazing even to architects, many of whom specify it for their own homes.

Versatility is one of the keys to redwood popularity. Because the number of visual effects possible with this material are limitless, the design effects are also limitless. Redwood exteriors fit into city or country living with equal aplomb. The lumber is easily patterned according to the architecture of the house, to the site, to the environment, and to the overall feeling you want to convey. In a way, redwood can make a statement about you as surely as the tone of your voice.

Treated Or Untreated

Exterior redwood can be painted, stained, bleached, finished with water repellent, or simply left alone. Untreated, the wood will eventually weather to a light grey. Water repellents and bleaches both tend to modify the natural weathering process while paints and stains color the wood artificially. If you wish, you can buy redwood that has been factory finished with water repellent, paint primer or stain. Factory applications produce a better quality finish and reduce labor costs. When you purchase the lumber or plywood, indicate the type of pre-finished redwood you want.

For more complete information on remodeling with redwood, send 15 cents each for the color booklets, "Residing and Paneling with Redwood" and "Redwood Remodeling Ideas" to the Service Library, California Redwood Association, 617 Montgomery Street, San Francisco, California 94111.

Rattan or Woven Furniture

Cane or wicker both resist dampness but absorb dirt. They also fade.

To eliminate this, clean them thoroughly and spray with a clear varnish. If you prefer color use an enamel instead.

Broken strands may be replaced or they may be repaired with waterproof glue, and then re-fastened with rust-proof brads.

Corner Area For Study Is Convenient For All

DESK FOR KIDDIES — A children's desk has become a necessity in this age of education. This wall desk satisfies the need, and easily fits into almost any corner of a children's room without adding a new set of furniture legs or pedestals to impede efficient housecleaning. The desk arms are tapered to afford the maximum working area without jutting too far into the room.

The explosion of population and information has created a situation which makes it mandatory for every family to have a desk where children can read and study.

This corner study area developed by the American Plywood Association is an ingenious unit designed to meet that need. It is secured directly to the wall, providing maximum convenience in a minimum space that is not blocked by legs or heavy panels reaching to the floor. The two arms of the desk taper in a way specifically calculated to provide the most work surface without corners that jut too far into the room.

Drawers alternated with pigeon-holes encourage neatness and provide convenient storage for school supplies and personal possessions.

The whole desk can be cut from a single panel of plywood, as shown in a detailed layout printed on the easy-to-read plan available for 10 cents from the American Plywood Association, 1119 A St., Tacoma, Wash. 98401.

Shelving System

A new system for handsome shelf arrangements has been introduced by Masonite Corporation and now is available at lumber and building materials dealers.

It includes furniture-crafted solid wood pilasters and brackets, plus a choice of traditional or contemporary carved wood shelves, all in matching satin walnut finish. The shelves may be used with or without pilasters to create interesting, attractive and functional wall displays in a living room, den or bedroom; a store window or showroom in various types of business; and in industrial offices, salesrooms, schools and institutions.

Privacy, protection and attractiveness are the primary requirements of fences. The ideal fence, especially one around a home, provides all three.

Because of their durability and good appearances, hard-board sidings made by Masonite Corporation are widely used in building attractive fences. They fulfill the primary functions; yet they are

No Power Tools Required on Site During Building Operation

Cabin Employs Rigid Frame Design

The American Plywood Association's rigid frame cabin is an engineered structure designed specifically for sportsmen who want a durable, rugged building that can be erected with a minimum of equipment and materials at a remote site.

In addition, unskilled labor can be used to build the cabin since the rigid frame system involves relatively simple, straightforward carpentry.

Most previous applications of the rigid frame system have involved agricultural and industrial uses where clear span is important and low-cost is vital.

No Special Tools

The cabin is simple enough so that unskilled labor can be used in erecting it. The carpentry is straightforward. No power tools or complicated angle, bevel or dado cuts are required. The design requires only those hand tools which can be carried in a single portable tool kit.

No concrete pour is required for the foundation nor is extensive site preparation required.

The completed building should be maintenance free and durable enough to withstand extended periods of vacancy, particularly during rugged winter months.

Total time elapsed in building a prototype cabin was one week — six working days. That includes footings, substructure, rigid frame assembly and erection, roofing, floor deck, and wall framing, painting and porch deck. One of the factors that makes the erection of the building simple is that there is a "learning factor."

Mixed Styles Look Fine on Floor Tile

Does furniture have to be all one period or style? The answer used to be "yes", but it isn't any more. Families are so much on the move to different parts of the country they find they need furnishings that blend with a variety of homes.

To meet their needs, notes The Better Floors Council, manufacturers of resilient floor coverings are now offering vinyl asbestos tile designed to blend with a mixed collection of decorating themes.

Some of the favorites among new embossed floor tile patterns are pebble, mosaic and travertine because they provide such a good background for furniture of different periods. Made principally in off-white and beige tones, these floor coverings are planned for use with contemporary or traditional furnishings, or a mixture of both.

In a predominately traditional room, the many colors of an Oriental rug take on an added glow when seen against a light tile floor. A woman with a variety of traditional pieces can always feel confident that her furniture will look appropriate in this setting.

A woman with furniture in the modern mood finds

Guidelines For Lighting Costs

According to the American Home Lighting Institute, experience by one of the nation's leading electrical firms reveals that the investment in lighting fixtures for a new home should run between 1½ and 3 per cent of the price of the home with lot.

This figure does not include the price of wiring, switches and electrical labor. But those costs usually are included in electrical costs and don't cost a great deal more for a well-planned lighting system.

Plan Before Building

Conversely, if a good lighting system is not planned prior to construction, it will cost far more to do it later.

The Lighting Institute points out that the 1½ per cent formula is minimum budget to meet the widely used AHL/Light for Living Standards. Thus, for example, an investment of $375 to light a $25,000 home will assure minimum lighting to:

that with a neutral floor as background her bright, contemporary colors take on added brilliance. The three-dimensional texture of the floor tile complements the variegated weaves of modern fabrics, adding a new element of interest to the room.

With neutral colors on walls and floors, preferably in light tones, furnishings take on their own personality. The result is a room more pleasing than one that strictly follows the rules of design.

Standards.

1. Bring to life the colors, designs and textures of floors, walls and furnishings of every room.

2. Create an atmosphere of spaciousness, and increase usable space by eliminating dark, unused corners and excess table lamps.

3. Guard against accidents and eyestrain.

4. Eliminate the problem of inadequate task lighting, which can cause headaches, nervousness, mistakes and accidents in performing such seeing acts as studying, reading, cooking, cleaning and "fixing."

The Institute cautions that these guidelines are only a rule-of-thumb for budgeting. They aim to provide for at least one permanent lighting unit per room and fixtures that are properly designed for effective, comfortable distribution of light.

Growing numbers of builders are becoming aware that the kind of lighting recommended as Minimum Light for Living Standards is a vital part of good interior design and an integral part of a flexible living environment.

Gray Foliage Offers Contrast

The many gray foliaged shrubs and plants available to home gardeners are highly useful for those who grow them. Being neutral in color, the plants combine with everything and anything else in the garden, providing welcome contrast to green foliage and setting off the bloom of annuals and other color bearers.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggests that gray foliage can perhaps do more than any other single thing to liven the year-round interest in the garden. Even in winter, the silvery Bush Germander or Dusty Miller stands out like a beacon.

One can seldom tell much about a plant's ultimate look from the way it appears in a nursery container. But, a person can tell from the foliage color how well a gray plant will look in the garden setting. A visit to a C.A.N. nursery, and a simple test of holding a can of Dusty Miller or English Lavender next to any shrub or blooming thing — a Rose, for instance — or an evergreen Juniper, will reveal it contrasts beautifully with all of them.

For quick gray foliage in the garden, try edging a path with silvery mounds of Dusty Miller for a start; or using the same plant to border a bed of roses. Or, take the above mentioned Bush Germander (Teucrium Fruticans), and use it as a silvery hedge. This shrub is most attractive-crisp in appearance and scattered with small blue flowers a good part of the year.

English Lavender has many uses in California gardens — everything from serving as a shrubby cover to a distinctive landscape shrub. The medium-growing plant boasts spikes of lavender-scented blooms, which adds to the enthusiasm for this time honored plant.

Convolvulus (Bush Morning Glory) is a silvery-foliaged plant that remains low, and fills-in nicely any given area. Its good-sized white blossoms are not lost with the foliage background — they provide a prolific seasonal show of color.

Among taller plants, none seems to have the silver-white sheen
